Artwork | Classes | Demonstrations

Bonita Springs National Art Festival

The last art festival of the season is this weekend at Riverside Park! I'll be open and participating March 4-5 from 10am to 5pm. Be sure to stop in and see my new work and over 200 other amazing artists in the show. Don't miss it!

Work on Display at Shangri-La Springs

I have 4 of my favorite pieces on display for sale in the main building of the historic Shangri-La Springs until April 5th. These pieces will be at my studio on March 4 & 5, but will go back to Shangri-La after the festival. For more information about Shangri-La, location, hours, etc, visit www.shangrilasprings.com

Classes/Demos

I am offering one-on-one lessons, classes, and workshops. If you're interested in having me work on the wheel at your event, let me know! Visit my website for more details.

A few of the new pieces unloaded from the kiln today!

What's New?

Opening the kiln after firing is one of the best feelings in the world! I just glazed, fired, and unloaded dozens of new pieces this week, including the first of six commissioned awards (see above, center photo). Be sure to stop by at the National Art Festival this weekend to see what's new and pick up something special before they're gone!

The next Art Night at Shangri-La Springs is on March 8th from 6-9pm. If you haven't yet attended this free event, you're really missing out. Artists of all kinds come to display their work; even better, they actively create during the night, so guests can get up close to the process! I'll be there working on the wheel. There are also painters, chalk artists, performance artists, and musicians; you can participate in yoga or the drum circle, enjoy a glass of wine, and experience free spa treatments!

My Etsy shop has been updated with new pieces, and there are more to come. I ship anywhere in the world. Visit etsy.com/shop/upriverceramics to see everything.
