What's New?

■ The holiday season and Florida's busy season are back in a big way. There are lots of events coming up. Just check out the list on the left side of this page and the attached posters.

■ As you can see in the pictures above, I've been busy working on some new pieces that I hope to have ready in time for the holidays.

■ I made two time lapse videos featuring two of the pieces pictured above and posted them on my social media sites. They've been a big hit as people love seeing the process unfold. I hope you've been following along, and if not, now is a good time to start! I'll post a youtube link to the videos in this email too.

■ All of the pieces from the last kiln batch are up on Etsy and many are still available. I can ship them directly to you if you aren't nearby. They make great handmade gifts for your loved ones for Hanukkah, Christmas or just because. There is a wide range of prices so there is something for everyone starting at just $15!
