What's New?

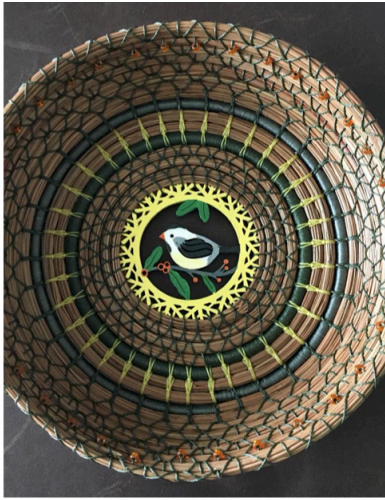

■ My latest batch included some new design and cutting techniques as well as some beautiful new glazes. Many of the pieces with cutouts took a lot of time but the detailed designs came out beautifully making it all worth it. The new glaze layering experiments I've been doing paid off in the magical colors of the green and blue glazes pictured above. They were achieved using 7 coats of 2 different glazes. All of the remaining pieces that weren't sold during this past weekend's Bonita Springs National Art Festival are available in my art cottage gallery or online at Etsy. Take a look at www.Etsy.com/Shop/UpriverCeramics

■ If you didn't get to see the time lapse videos I made, go to the gallery section of my website where I posted them for you.

■ We have a new neighbor at the Art Cottages! I hope you'll give a warm welcome to the women of Coiling Pine by Design. They make some unique and beautiful pieces using pine needles! They are in the previously vacant Cottage Two.

■ I took my pottery wheel on the road again. This time I was hired to work on the wheel at a big golf tournament evening event at the Ritz Carlton in Naples on Valentine's Day: The Chubb Classic. The event featured four artists from around the state including yours truly. I'm looking forward to the next opportunity to entertain!

■ Don't forget to follow me on Facebook and Instagram too!
