What's New?

■ Wow, where to begin! So much has happened since my last newsletter. I've participated in 3 more art festivals, volunteered at another, and produced 2 more big batches of artwork. The Bonita Springs National festivals that surround the cottages were fun as usual. And my first foray into a new festival, the Babcock Ranch festival, was a fun and rewarding experience. The owl mugs have been a big hit, and commissioned orders have been keeping me busy. All of this has lead to a very fruitful first couple months of 2019.

■ Many new pieces are already gone because of the festivals but quite a few are still available. Aside from some necklaces, what hasn't sold is now up on Etsy.

■ I hope you'll help us welcome a new artist to Cottage One! Kristi Pimentel Seashell Designs has been chosen and approved by the city council to join us here at the art cottages. She is currently navigating the many red tape obstacles the city sets up for new tenants but will hopefully be moving in and opening soon.
