Art Night at the Cottages

Wednesday, November 20th, 5:30-8pm. We have moved November and December's events to the 3rd Wednesday due to conflicts with major holidays. Featuring many local guest artists and all of the cottage artists. Don't miss it!

Holiday in the Park

Tuesday, December 3rd 4:30-8:30pm in the park surrounding the art cottages. This is a city event with tons of family activities. The art cottages will all be open for it so stop on in and say hello while you're here!

What's New?

■ For the entire month of October, I was the featured 3D artist at Harbour View Gallery in Cape Coral. I sold 7 different pieces there so that was a fun experience. They have invited me to be the featured 3D artist again in March which should be interesting since it will be full blown "season" by then.

■ I took a leap into applying for a major juried art festival and am happy to say I was accepted! I will be selling my work at ArtFest Fort Myers the weekend of February 1st and 2nd so mark your calendars. Now I begin the process of building up inventory and planning my tent display in hopes of impressing the festival patrons and the judges. If you have any display items I could use or some advice, let me know!

■ My new "Endless Downwinder" mug series featuring various paddlers riding the ocean's waves has been quite a hit among the paddling community especially. I delivered some to Chattanooga, TN to a group of paddle racers before our annual 32 mile race there. Some have also been shipped to Oregon and California, too. So they are already spreading far and wide like the owls!
