What's New?

■ It's been a while since I've updated you. It was a busy summer spent making tons of dishes (see above picture which doesn't include 12 total mugs and 12 total painted wine glasses). They took quite a bit of time but it was a fun challenge. So much of that involved working on the pottery wheel trying to duplicate the process of making each plate in similar sizes and style.

■ When I finally finished the dining set project, I was dying to get off the wheel and hand-build something totally different. That's when the head piece pictured above came to be. It was something totally outside of my comfort zone that I had never tried before and I'm in love with it. I may make a series of these when I get more time. And of course, the owl mugs continue to sell as fast as I can make them!

■ I was invited to be the featured 3D artist for the month of October at Harbour View Gallery in south Cape Coral! I invite you to join me at the opening reception on Tuesday October 1st 6-8pm. I've been working on a bunch of new pieces for this show.
