Artwork | Classes | Demonstrations

Art Night at the Cottages

Our third event will be on Wednesday, May 24 from 6-9pm. We will have free wine, hands-on art opportunities, demonstrations, music, plenty of local artists, kid-friendly activities, and more.

Art Night at Shangri-La Springs

The next event at Shangri-La Springs will be Wednesday, May 10 from 6-9pm. More information about Shangri-La, can be found here: www.shangrilasprings.com

Classes/Demos

I am offering one-on-one lessons, classes, and workshops. I even do pottery wheel demonstrations at events. Summer class dates are more flexible. If you want to start a class, just let me know. Visit my website for more details.

What's New?

My six commissioned butterfly vases were presented to some deserving local organizations at the big Chrysalis Awards event last Friday. I was honored to be a part of the event and to make the unique awards that all the recipients loved so much.

In unfortunate news, most of the art cottages were broken into and robbed early last week. No artwork was touched, but much of the money earned from sales was stolen, as well as an expensive camera and accessories I use to capture time lapses as I create my artwork. None of it was covered under insurance, so this is a really tough loss.

Many people have asked how they can help and some have even suggested setting up a GoFundMe campaign to help replace what was stolen. I appreciate their support, but I've never liked asking for handouts. That's why I set up a Kickstarter campaign to get this studio up and running - because through Kickstarter, people get something in return.

So, if you would like to help, I'd prefer you simply purchase some of my artwork rather than donate! Seeing someone take home something I put so much time and love into always brightens my day. And I have something for everyone here with prices starting as low as $9. Plus, I ship worldwide!
